Series 8: Briggs Cunningham Automotive Museum

Cunningham amassed a collection of automobiles that included the first Ferrari sold in the United States. To house the collection he opened the Cunningham Museum in Costa Mesa, California on February 5, 1966. The museum's doors remained open from February 8, 1966 to December 31, 1986. The collection was later sold to the son of Cunningham's close childhood friend, Miles Collier.

Series 12: Jaguar of NY Distributors, Inc.

In 1955, The B.S. Cunningham Co. closed down because it was losing money through production. Seeing this loss, Jaguar of NY Distributors, Inc. invited Cunningham to close shop and join Jaguar. Briggs decided to head up the Jaguar distribution for the U.S. East Coast and can be credited with much of Jaguar's marketing success in the 1950's-1960's. This series contains the company records and ledgers saved by Cunningham during his time with the company.
